After seven days of sailing in horrible weather, the ship you are a passenger on is about to think in the Pacific Ocean. The captain has lost all contact with the outside world, but he hopes and believes that the ship is not far from from an uninhabited Pacific islands.

The captain informs you that the ship will go down within a few minutes. He orders you to wake up five of the sleeping passengers, because the lifeboat only has room for five out of ten of them, in addition to you and the captain. While handing you the passenger list he says: "Let the others sleep peacefully as long as possible, be careful not to wake the others."

Mary (30) - Priest, former orienteer. Headstrong and likes thins to go her way.

Tea (53) - Very skilful nurse, can be very racist and spiteful.

Laura (18) - Speaks 18 languages and never keeps her mouth shut. Sings ABBA songs when nobody wants to talk to her or when she feels angry.

Cristiano Ronaldo (38) - professional football player, fit and athletic.

Roderick (44) - Police officer and ex-military specialist. He is guilty of domestic abuse and accused of sexual assaults.

Joe (28) Jack-of-all-trades and a master survivalist. Suspected of having connections to ISIS.

Greta Thunberg (20) - activist known for fighting climate change.

Samantha (20) - supermodel, amazingly beautiful, but also amazingly stupid.

Tom (9) - smart, cheerful, always helpful. Can make anyone happy with his presence

Sheryl (35) Tom's mother and his only family. She is infected with a terminal illness and she probably has only three months to live.